“The 2008 VON Magazine Innovator Award is the foremost listing of innovative VoIP communications companies,” says David L. Condra, Dalcon’s CEO. “Dalcon has been named to the list due to our DCM 2.0 solution for small and medium sized businesses.”

Building on the legacy of the Pulver 100, the VON Innovator Awards recognizes companies representing the future of VoIP communications. Recipients are selected from a committee made up of VON editors, columnists, and contributors. “The VON Innovator Awards recognize the Internet Communications industry’s best and brightest companies. The selection committee unanimously felt Dalcon stood apart from the large field of nominees,” said Bill Sell, Publisher, VON Media Group.

“We’re doubly-delighted since this represents our second award this year,” says Condra. “Along with the Internet Telephony’s Product of the Year, 2008 continues to validate our national standing in business communications.”
